Virginia & West Virginia

- A photograph of a rural landscape. In the foreground, a small pond reflects the sky and the surrounding trees. A wooden fence runs along the edge of the pond. In the middle ground, a large, multi-story brick house with a prominent chimney and a porch is visible. To the right of the house, there is a smaller, single-story brick building. The background is filled with numerous bare trees, suggesting a late autumn or winter setting. The sky is overcast.
- Develop geographic information system coverages of features that depict critical aspects of geologic, hydrologic, and land-surface features within the basin.

- Develop and calibrate a series of ground-water-flow models for the Shenandoah Valley Region.
